

Disk of International Trade 2006

Miami International Airport's (MIA) Disk of International Trade (DIT) consists of country trade inspections for each of the countries, which did business through MIA for calendar year 2005. You can see the annual trade for a given country, expressed in four columns showing export weight, export value, import weight and import value. Each column lists all the commodity-groups, which that country traded with MIA in 2005, and the percent change from 2004.

Additionally, this year you can also see the regional trade for each of the regions, which did business through MIA in 2005.

The Disk of International Trade is an easy to use, self-installing, self-running program.
